There was nothing doing in the line of sports, which is a very unusual thing for this town, consequently joy riding was the order of the day for those who had cars and those who had not passed the weary hours in their gardens.

CROP CONDITIONS

The crop conditions in the Vulcan district were never better than they are this year. A little over three weeks ago everybody was looking blue, everything seemed to be at a standstill owing to the backward spring, farmers were anxious to get their crops in and could not attempt to do so because the ground was too wet. Finally, the weather became more settled, the soil dried sufficiently to permit of seeding, and quick to take advantage, the farmers began to get in their crops and with the fine weather that has prevailed since, have worked unceasingly in their efforts to get as much acreage under cultivation as possible.

Reports from all over the district show that there will be about the same acreage in crop as in other years and that seeding will be about completed by the end of the week. The earliest sown fields are already well above ground and are beginning to take on a green aspect which goes to show the rapid germination which has taken place under the favorable conditions of the past few weeks. The soil also is in splendid shape and holds plenty of moisture to carry the growing crops for some time and from every viewpoint the outlook is very encouraging.

Feed for stock, of which there has been a great shortage for some time, is greatly improved, the grass is growing rapidly and providing lots of pasture and with favorable conditions from now on there will be plenty of feed in the country to put the stock through the winter.

Not for the past three years has prospects of a bumper crop looked so bright and encouraging and a feeling of optimism permeates the air on every hand and we think we are safe in saying that instead of another lean year as was anticipated, our farmers' granaries will be filled to overflowing, a fact which will make them happy and incidentally make the business man smile as well.

AN APPRECIATION

Mr. Leo Spanke wishes to thank all those who so kindly rendered him assistance and showed their sympathy toward him in his heavy loss. Their kind actions are greatly appreciated and will always be remembered and if, in the future, he can be of assistance to others, he will be glad to do so.

WHIST DRIVE

A very pleasant social function took place at the home of Mrs. R. E. Dodds on Thursday evening when the Women's Auxiliary of the Church of England held a whist drive and social evening. In anticipation of having a real good time, about fifty people assembled and in this they were not disappointed; everything was arranged for their comfort and enjoyment and a real pleasant evening was spent by all. Two prizes were given for the whist drive, the games of which were very keenly contested, and these were won by Miss Casey, who took first honors, and Mrs. Jones, who took second. Mr. W. A. Howes, officiated as master of ceremonies and his rulings were obeyed in an implicit manner. Supper was served about 11:30 to which everyone did justice, after which the assembly broke up, everybody voting the affair to have been the best ever. The handsome sum of $30 was raised toward the church funds.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

The Boy Scouts were much in evidence last Friday evening and are elated over the success of their entertainment. Two lectures were given, one on the Pied Piper of Hamelin, the other on Bird Life. The lectures were of suitable length and along with them was a musical program.

A notable feature of the evening was the strike. Union operators number 2,345 and 4,534 went on strike. One of the scouts, named Willie Butchart acted as wage adjuster and the operators were given an additional half cent per hour, which satisfied their demands. The lecturer then informed the audience that the admission fee would have to be raised 100 per cent to meet this increase in wages.

Monday at eleven o'clock the scouts assembled for a march and before they returned had covered ten miles. As this goes to press five are still missing, among them being Emil Mutz, James Walker and Harry Rolston. If they do not show up within a week a searching party will be sent out.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Stockton, of Calgary, were visitors in Vulcan last week.

The business men of Vulcan have decided to close their stores on Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock during the months of June, July and August. People in the country districts should make a note of this as it may save them a fruitless trip to town.

Mr. R. P. Roshon, who has resided at Shepherd, Alta., the past few months, returned to Vulcan on Friday last, where he will reside again for a time. While here it is his intention to make some improvements to his property on the Main street, with a view to making a quicker disposition of same.

Mr. Jas. Huntley, salesman for the famous Headlight Overall, was in town last week and used a very novel way to advertise his goods. He dressed in a suit of overalls and visited all the garages and workshops in town to demonstrate personally all the good qualities which give this special make of overall a lead on all others. Naismith & Company are the agents in Vulcan and would be pleased to show them to you.

On another page will be found an advertisement of Peter Gillespie, the Vulcan tailor, announcing a large Clearance Sale of Gent's Furnishings, and it will pay you to attend and secure some of the many bargains which he has to offer. Owing to advanced prices for Fall delivery, he has decided to discontinue in this line and will now clear out his stock at cost price. The sale commences on Saturday, May 29 and will continue until everything is sold.

DANCE

The dance held in the I. O. O. F. Hall on Monday evening last, was a huge success in that it was attended by one of the largest crowds ever gathered in the hall and also by the class of music rendered by the Vulcan Band which was all that could be desired and many were the favorable comments passed on the splendid ability of this aggregation in their rendering of dance music, the time being perfect.

The dance started at 8 o'clock and from that hour on the crowd was continually being augmented until by 10:30, about one hundred and fifty spectators and dancers were in the hall having the time of their lives. Dancing was kept up until midnight when an adjournment was made for supper after which dancing was again commenced and kept up until about two-thirty, when the gathering dispersed, and many hoped there would be another dance soon, so thoroughly had they enjoyed themselves.

A MESSAGE FROM CANADA

The Chicago Rotary Club, at its weekly luncheon at the Sherman hotel recently, applauded a stirring and meaty address on Canadian American relations by Robert J. C. Stead, of Ottawa, director of publicity of immigration and colonization of the Dominion.

Mr. Stead, who is a gifted poet and novelist, as well as an able executive, is also a member of the Ottawa Rotary Club, and brought cordial greetings to their Chicago brethren from the Rotarians across the border. The gist of Mr. Stead's appeal was for a better international understanding, and that broader patriotism which does not confine itself wholly to love of community, state or nation but which looks to the welfare of the world and of humanity generally. We are not all citizens of the same country he said, do not all owe allegiance to the same flag, but all live in the same world and are all interested in the same set of general problems, and must depend upon each other in an understanding way if the world is to be safe for humanity.

"Canada," said the speaker, "has miles and miles of undeveloped land which lack only man-power to unlock its untold wealth of minerals and foods. With the trend of young men to the cities, where are you going to get things to eat? It makes no difference how much money one has, if there is no food to buy with it, and food can be produced only by men working upon land. Due to man's inventive genius, population is becoming dangerously centralized, and there must be a movement back to the land if the world is to be adequately fed."

"Canada has an area greater than that of the United States including Alaska. It has a population only equal to three people for each square mile of territory. If all the winter and spring wheat, oats, barley and potatoes grown in the United States could be transplanted to Alberta, there would still be land to spare. Nothing but man power is lacking."

"While only a generation or so ago you were debating whether or not we could raise wheat in the Dakotas, the prize corn shown at Kansas City last year was grown in Manitoba, and the prize wheat shown at the World's Fair in Chicago in 1893, was from 700 miles north of the International boundary."

"Canada buys more from the United States than all of the countries south of the equator combined and furnishes us with more than twenty million dollars' worth of hard wheat to mix with our soft wheat, two million dollars of potatoes, an equal amount of turnips, seven million dollars of cattle, ten and a half million of fish, twenty-nine million of lumber, seventy million of minerals and much of the paper on which our newspapers are printed. Much greater quantities could be furnished were it not for the fact that men are flocking to the cities where they dodge flivvers and can't find houses in which to live."

"The people of the two countries are of the same stock, and common ancestry. They are of one language of common habits and have the same ideals." Mr. Stead pleaded for closer relationship and a better understanding as between neighbors.

In conclusion, Mr. Stead spoke of the deep appreciation of Canadians generally of the action of the people of the United States in rushing aid to Halifax at the time of the great disaster. With deep feeling and fine effect, he read this little poem of his, written in recognition of what the neighborly act had inspired in the breast of Canadians:

"Neighbor, your hand! In this dark day

When strange perversities of Fate,
And wrath are meant for liberty
Have laid our city desolate.

"You, from our common mother sprung,

Didst hear a cry along the sea,
A cry which in our common tongue
Didst sound a common call to thee.

"Neighbor, your hand! We have no speech,

For idle world, we understand;
Across a thousand miles we reach,
And feel the pressure of your hand!"

Mr. Stead's fascinating personality and admirable address pleased the Rotarians mightily. He was urged to repeat his visit in the near future.

HEAVY TAX ON LUXURIES

Sales Tax—Not Retailers'

Sales tax—One per cent on the sales of all manufacturers, wholesale dealers, jobbers or importers (not retailers). This tax not to apply to a large list of essential foodstuffs, cattle foods, anthracite or bituminous coal, or to goods exported.

Stamp duties—Existing taxes on cheques continued but rate increase on bills of exchange and promissory notes. Two cents for bills of $100.00 or less, and two cents for each additional $100.00 or fractional part thereof.

If paid in installments, interest at 6 per cent. is to be charged and payment in full is required within six months after return is made by means of three equal bi-monthly installments. Heavy penalties are provided for incorrect returns.

Business profits tax—present tax is modified by increasing the exemption allowed from 7 to 10 per cent. and changing the schedule of taxation to the following:

On profits in excess of 10 per cent. on capital, but not exceeding 15 per cent., tax will be 20 per cent.

On profits in excess of 15 per cent. on capital, but not exceeding 20 per cent., tax will be 30 per cent.

On profits in excess of 20 per cent. on capital, but not exceeding 30 per cent., tax will be 50 per cent.

On profits in excess of 30 per cent. on capital, tax will be 60 per cent.

For small businesses with capital of not less than $25,000 and under $50,000, 20 per cent. on all profits exceeding 10 per cent. will be taken instead of 25 per cent., as at present.

Under legislation of last session, the maximum scale of business tax is in effect this year and the modified tax will apply to 1920 profits, taxable in 1921.

Tariff changes—The 7½ war customs duty is taken off all remaining

A SOUND POSITION

The addresses of Mr. John R. Clynes, the deputy leader of the British Labor party, are usually excellent examples of condensed common sense. The influence of men of this type is clearly in the ascendant in the organized Labor circles of the old land and to it the country is indebted, to a very large extent, for the greatly improved industrial conditions there in recent months. An extract from the speech which Mr. Clynes gave on the budget has universal application. He is reported as follows:

The fundamental point was that or production. (Hear, hear.) It was true that many working men thought that if they produced more they were only increasing their employers' profits. In that conclusion, he thought the working man was entirely wrong

(Hear, hear.) It could well be said that the profiteer did worse when there was plenty than in times of scarcity. (Hear, hear.) The profiteer was a product of the war. It was quite true that some employers would derive some benefit from increased production but he was perfectly satisfied that far greater benefit would accrue to the mass of the people. (Hear, hear.) He thought it a matter for regret that the worker had pressed for too much at one time; it would have been better for the country if many of the concessions they had obtained could have been spread over a longer period of years. (Hear, hear.) Unfortunately, working men were not taught to look on matters in that way before the war. In those days whatever concessions were given were in response to threats of a strike, or an actual strike. The employers taught the men the value of the instrument of force.

If output was to be increased there must be improved conditions of management and greater co-operation between the workers and the employers in the workshops. (Cheers.) By increasing the volume of commodities and the consequent cheapening of prices, the workers would get something equal to a substantial advance in wages. (Hear, hear.) But those results would not be reached unless somehow through the state or through the industries of the country, there were given to the working classes that consciousness, amounting almost to a guarantee, that extra work today to produce greater output would not be the cause of throwing men out of a job tomorrow. (Hear, hear.) That was the main obstacle to the acceptance by the worker of that very important doctrine of increased output. Here, again, the working man thought in terms of his former experience. It ought not to be beyond the government collectively to give such an assurance as would satisfy him that over-production should never again be allowed to be the cause of unemployment. (Hear, hear.)

MODIFIED QUARANTINE

For the benefit of readers of The Advocate we reproduce at the request of the district health nurse, chapter 23 of the public health act, with reference to modified quarantine, and we trust all will read and carry out the principles of the act:

"Whenever the term 'Modified Quarantine' is used these regulations in connection with the existence of any cases of measles, German measles, anthrax, glanders, typhoid fever, mumps or whooping cough in its acute stage in any house or on any placard affixed to a house near any entrance to such house, it shall mean that such house and the inmates thereof shall be subject to the following restrictions:

(2) The patient shall be isolated therein from the other inmates, if possible in a separate room, until released from modified quarantine.

(3) A placard shall be affixed to the house by the local board in cities, towns, villages or rural municipalities, or by the householder or the physician in attendance in districts organized under The Local Improvement Act, wherein is printed in legible capitals of not less than two inch type the name of the disease with which such house is infected and the words 'Modified Quarantine.' The householder shall keep such placards affixed until the house is released from modified quarantine.

(4) Provided that the local board or the provincial board may at any time, if it deems necessary, place under 'Quarantine' any house which may have been placed under 'Modified Quarantine.'

SCHOOL FAIRS

Destined to become one of the most potent factors in the development of the agricultural interests of this province, the Southern Alberta School Fairs, which are now commencing to prepare themselves for the coming season, are creating provincial-wide interest at the present time. Urbanites know too little about this very healthful enterprise, however, and it is the purpose of this article to give a few facts and observations regarding this comparatively new effort on the part of the different communities and the government in an effort to stimulate a desire for, and to cultivate a more thorough knowledge of the business upon which the commercial and industrial life of the province greatly depends, that of farming and ranching.

These school fairs are conducted as co-operative enterprises between government agencies and committees of local people. The government agencies concerned with the fairs are the provincial schools of agriculture, the agricultural representatives, the school inspectors and the department of education. The local committees vary in composition; usually every school participating in the fair is represented. Seeds are distributed to the children of a select group of schools. The children plant these seeds at home, care for their gardens during the summer, and in the autumn exhibit the products at a fair held at a central point. In addition to those for garden products, classes are opened for livestock, grains, cooking, sewing and school work. The various agencies concerned with the fair, among many other duties, decides on the schools to be included in the centre—the group should consist of from 8 to 25—sends to the principal of the agricultural school in whose territory the fair is being held, a list of the schools; receives seeds sent out by the agricultural school and delivers them to the various representatives; makes all local arrangements; and raises money for prizes other than those provided for by the department of agriculture.

There will be 16 such fairs held in Southern Alberta this summer, the first of which will be held in Macleod on August 4 and 5. Other fairs to be held in September are: Coaldale, September 1; Taber, September 3; Raymond, September 7; Cardston, September 8; Cowley, September 10; Claresholm, September 14; Nanton, September 16; High River, September 18; Vulcan, September 22; Queens-town, September 24; Carmangay, September 28; Barons, September 30; and on October 5, 7 and 9, respectively, at Suffield, Brooks and Gleichen.

A prize list of the Barons school fair, held last September, shows a valuable set of prizes which were given for every branch of farming and ranching, ranging from stock-breeding to candy-making in the home. Included among the groups of entries were garden produce, domestic science, grain, sewing, canning, cooking, nature study, livestock, writing, art, athletics, oratory and composition. Many silver cups and bronze and silver cups and bronze and silver medals figure among the prizes.

MACLEOD HOSPITAL MAY CLOSE

"Shall the Macleod general hospital be closed" was the question which confronted the members of the board of that institution at a recent meeting, upon the presentation of the annual financial statement. The chairman pointed out that the hospital was going behind at the rate of $200 per month, and this condition of things could not go on very much longer. The members of the staff had received notice that their services might not be required after the end of May as there was no money in the treasury to pay salaries. The hospital officials waited upon the town council but no financial help could be secured from that quarter. It was felt that the institution was run as economically as it could possibly be conducted and there seemed to be no way of reducing the expenses any further. It was suggested that the hospital might be handed over to the Sisters of the Roman Catholic church, but Father Osborne, the resident priest, did not think that was possible; neither did the board as a whole seem to favor the closing up of the building. It was pointed out that compared with other towns in the province Macleod was in better shape than most in regard to its hospital; Calgary is going behind at the rate of $56,000 per year, Edmonton at the rate of $27,000, while according to present prospects Macleod's deficit on running expenses should not amount to more than $3,000 per year.

WANT TARIFF REDUCED

A prominent member of the U.F.A. said recently, in discussing the budget that the point which the farmers would have serious objection is that nothing has been done in respect to the revision of the tariff. A promise has been made, but that promise has been made before and the tariff still remains as it is. It is to be noted that in the way the existing tariff is made use of, the Canadian product is sold at the price of the imported article. In cognizance of this, several of the big Alberta farmers have made a point of buying agricultural imports from the States in preference to those made in Canada, in that in so doing they are benefitting the government of Canada as the tariff duty in these cases goes to the government and not to the manufacturer. A case in point is that of Mr. Trego, who on his big farm at Gleichen has nothing but American made implements, purchased in preference to the Canadian-made at the same price, in that the government will receive the benefit of the tariff duty. The same would apply to the purchase of commodities such as boots and shoes, etc., made in America where the Canadian product stands at the same price, on the principle that the government will get the benefit of the duty and not the manufacturers.

The price fixed as to the amount on clothing on which the luxury tax is made will affect the farmers, as on the farm the matter of cheap clothing is an important one in the uses which clothing has to stand. A suit at a cheap price would not be so economical as one at a higher price in the matter of wear. At present prices on which the luxury tax will have to be paid, so long as wholesale prices remain as they are, it must tend to increase the cost of living in that, as a matter of economy in the way of wear, the garment which will have to be bought. If wholesale prices of articles were reduced, with a corresponding decrease in the retail price, the matter would be different, and those who can afford to pay the higher, or what would be a luxury price, will pay the tax which in the circumstances they would be able to pay.

WHAT SHOULD BE DONE

In order to clean up the town so that it may be presentable to one and all we have pleasure in reproducing a few suggestions, if carried out, will help in making the town a cleaner and healthier town to live in.

Clean up lawns, gutters, backyards and alleys.

Burn or haul away all garbage and rubbish.

Prune shade trees; plant trees on lawns and parkings.

Fill up dangerous and unsightly holes in vacant lots.

Repair fences, gates, porches, screens, windows, etc.

Tear down old worthless and unsightly signs.

Plant flower gardens and shrubs on lawns.

Spread disinfectants in germ-breeding holes and buildings.

Whitewash cellars, barns, sheds, etc.

Paint store fronts, porches, window sills, screens, etc.

Repaint or varnish weather worn signs.

Smooth up rough places in streets and roads.

Wreck buildings that are too old to be of use.

Grub out weeds and cut dead trees on vacant lots.

Remove broken window panes and put in new ones.

Improve the appearance of school, church and public buildings with paint brush and carpenters' tools.

'T WAS EVER THUS

While attending a social function a Leamington lady had a five-hundred dollar fur coat stolen and the police found it in the home of a well-known lady of that town. The lining had been removed and the collar and cuffs taken off. She was arrested and brought before a magistrate, but let go on suspended sentence. What a farce the law is anyway! No doubt if she had been a poor woman with a family of several children to keep, and had stolen bread to keep them from starving, or coal to keep them warm, she would have been sent down for two years or more. Then we boast of fair play and equal rights. In this case the thief was well-to-do, and a member of the ladies' aid. Apparently a saint has received a coat of whitewash. Is it a case where a saint today becomes a sinner tomorrow, and it is better to lift up than crush down? If the latter, why not apply it to the poor as well as the rich?

Cement sidewalks will be constructed in the town of Blairmore.

FARMER PARTY MAKES GOOD

Not very long ago, a man from Ontario representing large financial interests in that province, was in this district and upon being asked what his opinion of the Drury government was, replied with enthusiasm the word "splendid." The farmer government is so infinitely better, and more business like than the former administration that it is even recognized and acknowledged in Tory Toronto that they have performed very excellent work in the administration of the affairs of the province and are very pleased that a change was made in the administration. In federal politics we have reason to believe that they will make good, for the farmers have more at stake in this country than all others together and we have every reason to believe that they will govern the country wisely and to a large extent will do away entirely with a great deal of extravagant notions held by party politicians in connection with administrative affairs.

Already the 'wise ones' have discovered a way to beat the new luxury tax on a suit of clothes. "You go to a tailor that you know and order a coat. Next day you go in and order a vest. The day after that you drop around and tell him to make you up a pair of pants. Three separate orders, and no tax on any one of them because no one is up to $15.00, and there you are."

Cowley school was fortunate in securing two prizes in the recent competition held by the Hudson's Bay Co., Jean Morrison winning a ten dollar prize and Eva Fortier a diploma.

"THE MASQUERADER"

All lovers of drama in Vulcan should not fail to visit Calgary this week and take in a performance of "The Masquerader," which opens a three days' engagement at the Grand, commencing Thursday, May 27.

Guy Bates Post has made a most emphatic triumph in "The Masquerader," on his transcontinental tour, and the thrilling modern drama has been attracting crowded houses since the opening of the season.

It is hard to say which is the more remarkable impersonation, that of John Chilcote, M.P., a drug addict, or John Loder, his physical double and moral antithesis. To each characterization Post brings the power of his subtle art in different degree. He is

CHURCH NEWS

In the evening, the minister, Rev. A. E. Hayes, took up the theme respecting the patriotism of Jesus. Patriotism of the politician type Jesus did not have, but he loved his country with a passionate love. He loved the village church, the village life, and the village home. Every blade of grass and every ripple of water was dear to him. In the humblest of his countrymen he saw a trophy to be won for God.

One day Jesus was challenged to define His position. At that time Palestine was under Roman rule and a party known as the Herodians administered the laws and collected the taxes on behalf of Rome. There was also a political party known as the Pharisees.

A deputation from both parties came to Him and asked if it were right to pay tribute to Caesar. If Jesus answered "No," the Herodians would take up the issue against Him. If He answered, "Yes," then the Pharisees would have grounds for complaint.

He answered by saying, "Give unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's and unto God the things that are God's."

The minister then dealt with the surface aspect of the questions and then dealt with the deep reasons for the answer Jesus gave.

Jesus showed the Pharisees that the answer to these questions is not found in a book but in the heart of man illuminated by the Spirit of God.

The minister then spoke of the relation between the Church and the State. He said that the State allows things that the Church could not sanction at all. The Invisible Church will have a work to do for generations. It cannot sit idle when the State allows wrongs to be perpetuated under state laws.

A reference was made to the amount paid the doctors, druggists and the government on account of fake prescriptions. In Alberta alone it amounted to millions. An enlightened conscience says this is wrong—that the whole traffic is wrong, yet the State legalizes it.

The minister then called attention to various laws, etc., that no church could sanction. He showed that the real patriot is not the man who plays for popularity and overlooks these defects, but one who gave his whole support to the remedying the wrongs.

The work of the church today is to make Caesar's kingdom a kingdom of righteousness. Men like Abraham Lincoln worked to this end. He said; that if ever he got a chance to hit slavery he would hit it hard. Slavery was Caesar's kingdom—not God's. The Liquor traffic is Caesar's kingdom, not God's, but the man or woman who has an enlightened conscience must see to it that Caesar's kingdom does not prevail. This is the church's duty to wage a constant warfare upon the existing evils. This is patriotism, and patriotism of the highest kind.

GOLDEN RULE WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The Golden Rule W.I. was entertained on Thursday, May 20, by Mrs. Fellar. Mrs. Fry read a very interesting paper on the "Land of Evangelism."

The attendance was fair, but every member should make an effort to be present at the next regular meeting to be held on Thursday, June 3. Mrs. Hutton has charge of the programme, which will be entirely musical and the meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Zhand.

The Institute will hold a basket picnic on Wednesday, June 9, at the bridge near the old Y.T. Ranch, on the Little Bow. There will be a good variety of contests, games, etc., and prizes will be given to the winners. The picnic will begin at 11 o'clock, and during lunch hour, which will be from 1 to 2, hot coffee can be obtained on the grounds, so bring your cups with you. Everyone is invited to attend.
